Leyes de Pensiones.

El delegado Andrews está mostrando particular solicitud en favor de los ex-soldados que sirvieron al gobierno durante la guerra civil y no han obtenido satisfaccion de sus reclamos ante el Negociado de Pensiones. Para rectificar y corregir esta injusticia ha introducido un número crecido de actas de pensiones para diversos veteranos que residen en Nuevo México, y vemos con placer que en la lista se hallan incluidos varios ex-soldados hispano americanos que no han obtenido del gobierno la satisfaccion de sus justos reclamos. Entre estos notamos los nombres de Juan José Salazar y Saturnino Baca para cuyo beneficio actos especiales han sido introducidos en la cámara.

No esta en mi Empleo

Ralph A. Marble no está ahora en mi empleo. Otis A. Bayless, un graduado de la universidad de Kansas, y Walter G. Tarley de Santa Fé, un agrimensor diputado de los Estados Unidos, están ahora haciendo mi agrimensura. Yo soy responsable por su trabajo y garantizo el mismo. Si Vds. mi darán su trabajo, estará correcto.

John W. Corbett.

La compañia de M. E. Davis han recibidos sus sombreros para mujeres para la primavera, cual se vendrá á precios razonables. Tambien una hermosa linea de efectos secos y novedades, dulces, articulos para el uso de las señoras y de mas. Vengan y veran y desengaúñense de los precios.

If there are thin places in your pastures, put the feeding boxes or salt boxes around them. The droppings from the animals will be helpful in building up those spots.

Inspeccionando el Central.

Parece indudable que el ferrocarril Central de Santa Fé va á cambiar de dueños, viendolo á formar parte del sistema ferroviario que se halla bajo el dominio de Gould. Las noticias que á ese efecto circulan en dias pasados están bien fundadas, aunque todavía no es verdad que se halla efectuado la venta del camino. Pero que esto sucederá en breve lo demuestra lo vendida de C. L. Tallmadge, capitalista de Chicago, que se halla aqui con la misión de inspeccionar el dicho ferrocarril y de su informe dependerá el precio que se pague por tal propiedad.

CATS TRAINED AS RETRIEVERS.

Proof That Ancient Egyptians So Used Their Pets.

"It is claimed," said a Chicago antiquary, "that cats may be trained as retrievers—trained to swim to your slain birds, and bring them back to you in their mouths. The thing sounds incredible. But look here."

He held up the photograph of an ancient Egyptian painting. Men with spears rode on the Nile. In some of the boats large cats sat on their haunches in the stern, while toward others several cats swam with dead birds in their mouths.

"This picture," said the antiquary, "proves that the Egyptians used cats for hunting dogs. If they, why not we? The original of the picture is in the British museum, where there are also several pieces of carving that display the cat in the role of a retriever."

Tricks of Autograph Hunters.

Some autograph hunters' tricks are revealed in the Connoisseur. George Eliot was taken in by a lady who enlisted her sympathy in fictitious social work. Another wrote to Ruskin a touching letter of supplication which elicited no reply. She wrote again in a tone of almost pitiful entreaty, but still silence. Then she adopted another name and address, became the bogus secretary of an imaginary art club for young students in a provincial town, and invited Mr. Ruskin to come down and deliver an address. The simple-minded author wrote back a long, delightful letter, asking to be excused from giving an address until the club had made some progress, but imparting much admirable counsel and useful rules of guidance.

Bereaved Mother's Grief.

The automobile rushed down the road—huge, gigantic, sublime. Over the fence hung the woman who works hard and long—her husband is at the cafe and she has thirteen little ones (an unlucky number.) Suddenly upon the thirteenth came the auto, unseeing, slew him, and hummed on, unknown. The woman who works hard and long rushed forward with hands, hands made rough with toil, unpraised. She passed and stood inarticulate—a goddess, a giantess. Then she hurled forth these words of derision, of despair: "Non Dieu! And I'd just watched him!"—Le Sport, Paris.

Calificacion de Votantes.

Se anuncia que la ley vigente en referencia al pago de capitacion sepuede interpretar en cierto modo como que hace depender la calificacion del votante para votar por directores de escuela en ciudades y plazas incorporadas, del pago previo de la capitacion. Es decir, que no pueden votar por tales empleados los votantes que no la hayan pagado, y sobre este punto se espera una breve opinion del procurador general del Territorio. Así es que deben estar sobre aviso todos los votantes que no hayan cumplido con la referente á la capitacion para que se califiquen en tiempo oportuno.

HOW TO PLANT APPLE SEEDS.

Can you tell me how to grow apple trees next summer from the seeds of the apples we eat this winter?

Lincoln, Neb. L. W.

Seeds of the apple and similar fruits grow best if mixed with moist sand soon after being taken from the fruit, and freely exposed to frost until planting time. Hard drying weakens them very much. As soon as the ground is in condition in the spring they may be sown thinly in rows three feet apart, in good, well-enriched soil, covering about one inch deep. Cultivate very carefully after the seedlings come up, and keep the soil mellow until August. Thin to two or three inches apart as soon as the second pair of true leaves has formed. Next spring they may be transplanted to similar nursery rows, setting them about eight inches apart. Good cultivation should be maintained for a season or two longer, when the trees should be large enough to plant out in the orchard. As they come into bearing inferior varieties may be top-grafted or budded with better kinds. While in the nursery rows all branches and sprouts should be trimmed off as they start up to the point it is intended to form the head. If it is intended to raise seedlings for root-grafting proceed in the same way, except that the roots are taken up one year after planting the seeds and grafted in the usual manner with desired varieties, the scions being preferable taken from bearing trees, then planted out and grown on in the same manner as seedlings.

There are two things to keep constantly in mind purchasing the fruits for next spring. One is that it does not pay to experiment with untried varieties, and the other is that it does not pay to deal with unknown parties. The responsible tree agent who is traveling for a responsible nursery will not offer to sell untried varieties or varieties which have not proved satisfactory in the section of the country he is working. But the fraud tree agent will go out with a glowing story of tree strawberries, etc., etc., and rope in a sucker in almost every square mile. The thing for our readers to do this winter is to post themselves thoroughly on the hardy list of the various fruits in their localities and buy only those.
